

senior sustainability manager

- International Manufacturing Company
- World Best Practice

This worldwide FMCG organisation offers exceptional careers to people with exceptional talent. Their brands are truly household names and are one of the leading players in their market around the world.

Your role is to lead the development of the company's sustainability agenda as part of the Corporate Responsibility strategy focusing on direct environmental impacts, supply chain (labour standards, H&S, business ethics and environment), and supporting product and brand sustainability development (eg packaging, ingredients). To develop policies and standards to drive the delivery and implementation of sustainable practices, initiatives and strategy across the business.

This is a rare opportunity and to be considered for the role you are degree qualified and in a similar position currently or ready to take the next step. You have a strong awareness of the global, national and local trends and issues regarding the environment and sustainability.

Please call Michael Green to discuss or send your resume.
